

The information contained in the "Client Portal" may contain privileged and confidential and/or protected health information (PHI), including patient information protected by federal and state privacy laws, including the Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act of 1996, as amended (HIPAA). It is intended only for the use by HIPAA covered entities and similar person(s) authorized under applicable law to access such information and associated with the entity listed above. If you are not a HIPAA covered entity or authorized person associated with the entity listed above, you are hereby notified that any review, dissemination, distribution, or duplication of this communication is strictly prohibited, and that you are not permitted to access the above privileged and confidential information. By using the "Client Portal", you represent that you are a HIPAA covered entities and/or similar person(s) associated with the entity listed above and authorized to access the privileged and confidential information described above, and you have received approval from any and all patients whose PHI is contained therein.